Madrid, March 16.

ON Sunday the 1ſt Inſtant the Infante Don Philip was baptized in the Royal Chapel of the Palace, his Godfathers being the Elector of Bavaria by his Proxy the Marqueſs de Santa Cruz, and his Godmother the Dutcheſs of Parma by her Proxy the Dutcheſs of Mirandola; the Ceremony was performed by Cardinal Borja aſſiſted by two Biſhops, in the Preſence of their Catholick Majeſties and the Royal Family, the Grandees and the Preſidents of the Councils. Four of the Members of the Royal Spaniſh Academy, deputed by the reſt, waited on the Prince and Princeſs of Aſturias the 23d paſt, to compliment them on their Marriage. On the 3d Inſtant the ſeveral Councils waited on the King Queen and Royal Family, to compliment, them on the late Marriages. The Duke d'Oſſuna has Leave to return hither for three Months, to ſettle his private Affairs, and is then to go back to the Court of France. The Dutch Ambaſſadour is ſoon to have his Audience of Leave of the King, in order to return Home; and the Secretary of the Ambaſſy is to remain here. The Muſcovite Miniſter who lately came hither, is already ſet out by the Way of France for Petersbourg, having ſtaid here but 15 Days, and had no Audience of the King, contenting himſelf with delivering the Czar's Letters to the Marqueſs de Grimaldo Secretary of State and receiving his Anſwers. The Court removes to Aranjuez the 9th of next Month. The Duke de St. Simon has put off his Departure for Paris till next Week, and 'tis thought he will be ſoon followed by the Marqueſs de Maulevrier, in whoſe Room it is reported M. de Chavigny is to reſide at Madrid at leaſt till the Arrival of an Ambaſſadour from France.

Cambray, March 28, N. S. The Lord Polwarth, one of his Britannick Majeſty's Ambaſſadours Extraordinary and Plenipotentiaries for the Congreſs here, lay at Peronne the 24th Inſtant. The 25th in the Morning he came forwards on his Journey hither: Within about a League and Half of this Place his Excellency was met by a Party of our Marechauſſée, who conducted him within a League of the City, where he found a Detachment of Horſe in two Bodies, who waited his Excellency's coming, and received him their Swords drawn and Trumpets ſounding; Within half a League of the Town his Excellency was met according to his Order by his Coach of State drawn by ſix Horſes, a Berline with ſix Horſes, and ſome of his Gentlemen, Officers of his Houſhold, Pages, and Grooms on Horſeback, the latter with Led-Horſes. M. Laurier, Governour of Cambray, was waiting for him at the ſame Place, and on his Approach went up to the Door of the Traveling-Berline in which his Excellency came; his Excellency immediately alighted, and after mutual Compliments they both went into the Coach of State, his Excellency having the Hand. At the ſame Time the Trumpets ſounded a March, and and one of the Bodies of Horſe putting themſelves at the Head, the March was in this Order.

The firſt Body of Horſe.

A Meſſenger on Horſeback.

His Excellency's two Swiſs on Horſeback.

His Excellency's Gentleman of the Horſe on Horſeback.

Three Grooms on Horſeback, leading three Saddle-Horſes with Furniture on which his Excellency's Arms were embroidered.

His Excellency's Steward on Horſeback.

Two of his Excellency's Gentlemen on Horſeback.

The Coach of State drawn by ſix Daniſh bay Horſes, in which ſat his Excellency with the Governour of Cambray.

A Berline drawn by ſix Daniſh black Horſes, in which were the Lord Binning and another Gentleman.

The ſecond Body of Horſe.

The Travelling-Berline with ſix Horſes, in which were his Excellency's two Secretaries and two Gentlemen.

Three Poſt-Chaiſes with ſome Officers of his Excellency's Houſhold.

Two of his Excellency's Livery Servants on Horſeback.

His Excellency approaching this Town, the Cannon on the Ramparts and of the Citadel were diſcharged. The Guard at the Gate ſtood drawn up under Arms, the Drums beating; and the March continued in the foreſaid Manner, through a great Crowd of Spectators, to his Excellency's Houſe, where the Magiſtrates of the City attended to welcome him on his Arrival and make him the uſual Preſent of Wine: After the Magiſtrates, the Officers of the three Regiments which are here in Garriſon paid him likewiſe their Compliments.

His Excellency immediately ſent his Secretaries to notify his Arrival to the Miniſters Plenipotentiary of the Emperour, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, the Catholick King, and the King of Sardinia; who without ſending back to him repaired in Perſon inſtantly to his Excellency's Houſe, the two Imperial Miniſters Count Windiſchgratz and Baron Penterrieder firſt, then M. de St. Conteſt his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's Miniſter, next the Count de San Eſtevan and the Marqueſs Beretti Landi Miniſters of Spain, and then the Count de Provana his Sardinian Majeſty's Miniſter.

His Excellency received them all in the Porch of his Houſe, reconducted them out of the Gate and ſaw their Coaches move before he went in again. And as ſoon as they were all gone, his Excellency went and returned their Viſits at their Houſes; obſerving in viſiting one after the other the ſame Order in which they had come to him.

They all received his Excellency in the ſame Manner, reconducting him without the Gate and ſeeing his Coach move before they went in again.

This done, his Excellency dined with M. de St. Conteſt, where were likewiſe all the Miniſters above-mentioned.

The Count de St. Severin, Miniſter of Parma, came alſo and complimented his Excellency preſently after his Arrival.

Paris, March 28, N. S. His Royal Highneſs the Duke Regent being recovered of his Cold, has for theſe three Days paſt appeared and done Buſineſs as uſual. Five new Intendants des Finances are appointed to act under the Comptroller General, viz. M. de Gaumont, d'Ormeſſon, le Peletier de Signy Son to the Comptroller, the Preſident Dodun, and M. de Baudry the late Lieutenant de Police. M. de Fagon is made Inſpecteur des Caiſſes du Roy, and M. d'Argençon ſecond Son of the late Keeper of the Seals is made Lieutenant de Police. The Duke d'Oſſuna is ſet out for Madrid. Letters from Moſcow of the 20th of February, ſay the Czar had left that Place the 16th to go to Olonitz, whence he was expected back at Moſcow about the End of March; that he had not taken any Miniſter with him; and that having diſſolved his Council for Foreign Affairs, it was thought M. Oſterman would have the Direction of thoſe Affairs for the future. The following Advices received by the Court relating to the Plague, have been communicated to the foreign Miniſters.

The

The Duke de Roquelaure, in his Letter of the 10th of March, adviſes, that the Goods and Merchandizes depoſited in the publick Warehouſes, and the Houſes every where, were diſinfecting (or purifying by Fumigation) with Succeſs, and without Inconvenience. Marvejols had had none ſick or dead of a long time. Mende had ſtill 12 ſick, but all out of Danger: The Phyſicians there looked upon the Diſtemper as ceaſing intirely. Salle-gardon had three ſick. Bournaux three. Alais had three dead and three newly taken ill from the 2d to the 7th. No more than two ſick remained in the Infirmaries, of whom one who is the Confeſſour's Servant gave hopes of Recovery, and the other is a Woman who had lain ill from the 1ſt of February. The Chevalier Damas in his of the 9th of March confirms the general Decreaſe of the Plague, and aſſures us there are no more than 25 ſick in all Languedoc. M. Bernard who commands at Alais writes the 2d and 9th of March, that Preparations were making for the general Quarantain, and that the Inhabitants had been warned to lay in Proviſions for the time it was to laſt. M. Vieuſſens a Phyſician writes the 7th of March, that only two ſick remained in the Infirmaries at Alais, that thoſe Infirmaries would ſoon be ſhut up, and that he had great Hopes from the Quarantain which was to begin the 23d. M. de Rothe writes the 9th and 13th of March, that the Gevaudan was in a better State of Health daily. Commiſſary Richard writes the 12th of March, that there are but eight ſick in the ſeveral Places infected, and almoſt all likely to be cured, viz. two at Genouillac, two at Aſſions, two at Alais, and two at Mende. The Diſinfection at Marvejols was ended. Some things ſtolen out of the Infirmaries there had been recovered. The Quarantain for Health was going to be begun there. Bournaux, Concoules, St. Genaix, and Laurac, were ſtill to be diſinfected; all the other ſmall Places within the Line had been perfumed. M. de Rambion writes the 9th of March, that for ſeveral Days none had fallen ſick at Laurac. Within three Days two Perſons had died in two Villages within the Blockade of St. Genaix; but none were ſick there, from whence it was judged the Diſtemper was drawing to an end.

The Comtat. M. de Nogaretz in his of the 9th and 12th of March adviſes, that he had an Account from the firſt Conſul of Avignon, that no more than ſix or ſeven Perſons died there a-Day, and five or ſix fell ſick. He learnt by the Diſcourſe they had had together at the Barrier, that the Diſtemper was not like to end ſoon there, the People continuing ungovernable. Vedene and Sorgues are ſtill in a bad Condition: The laſt of thoſe Places has already loſt half its Inhabitants. Monteux has relapſed after 43 Days Reſpite. The Poſts of the Iſland of Bartalaſſe and of the Rhoſne are very well kept: He makes frequent Turns thither. M. d'Orſay in his of the 15th of March, ſends a Letter from his Subdelegate at Orange, dated the 28th of February, adviſing that a Youth of that Town of 15 Years of Age had been taken ill of the Contagion, but it was not known by what Means he got it. Piolene in the Comtat had been ſuſpected, but without Ground. Avignon had loſt in the Month of February 227 Perſons. M. de Chabrillan writes the 9th and 14th of March, that very few who fell ill at Avignon eſcaped, eſpecially in the Infirmary of St. Roch. Monteux, Sorgues, and Chaſteauneuf du Pape, are infected a-new; but not violently. St. Savourmin, Cavaillon, Bedarides, and Piolene, are certainly well, though they have been ſuſpected. All the Line of the Comtat is in a good State of Health.
